

A Conversation with the Local Employment Planning Council

Looking at key needs within our local labour market

How are key job seeker and systems issues impacting our community? What's already happening to overcome challenges, and what can we do differently? How can we measure the impact of changing what's happening in the community today?

The Local Employment Planning Council invites you to join us in conversation around these key labour market issues impacting services, job seekers, employers and apprentices. In this session, we are particularly interested in speaking with those who work with clients who are under-represented in our local labour market.

When: Thursday January 25, 2018 from 9:00 – 11:00 am

Where: Goodwill Industries, 255 Horton Street, London in the 3rd floor Town Hall

The information and opinions gathered in these conversations in Oxford, Elgin and Middlesex Counties and in the City of London will help the Local Employment Planning Council build their upcoming report "20/20: Bringing clarity to the local labour market".
